When about 16 years old I worked at my trade as a Candy maker in a factory on Market St. Among the fellow workman was one whose name was Albert Hauman. This man was different from the other workers. He was a very good worker and acted friendly to everyone in the factory. But would not take part in anything unbecoming a Christian or a Gentleman. I soon got to love the man and I tried to live such a life as Hauman and I noticed that he had something I failed to have. Having been reared by Godly Parents, the good Lord kept me from going astray altogether. My Parents prayers followed me wherever I went. I often felt this. I attended Church regularly, but I knew I was not right with God.

My Friend invited me one day to go with him to a revival meeting, which was held in a Methodist Church which he attended. I consented and went with him every evening. God soon showed me, through His great mercy, that I was a sinner and that I needed a Saviour, but I could find no peace, but kept on praying. So one night I made up my mind to keep on praying until the Lord would take the heavy burden of sin from me.

After leaving Church my good friend and myself entered the Candy Factory and went into a small closet, used for drying, for prayer.

In this chest the Lord took my burdens from me, that Christ had died for my sins also, and reconciled me with the Father. I felt then very happy and thought I must tell everybody the Great Thing the Lord had done for me.

I wrote my Parents a letter and told them of my conversion. I also wrote an old Christian friend. This man had more experience than I had. He must have seen from my letter that I was self-confident and had the idea that I was all right now. The answer I received to my letter was very short. He wrote me "Frank the Devil is still alive and not dead." I did not understand what he meant, but I found later that he was right in telling me that the Devil was still alive.

I have tried to live a Christian life for more than 50 years, but I have often found that I needed the Lord's help to lead me and keep me to live a life pleasing to him.

I know that only the Blood of Christ He spilt on Calvary's Cross can save me and bring me to Heaven.

It was 25 years ago this year that Peter Dry Goods & Clothing Co. went out of Business, and Peter Realty & Investment Co was organized. Our father and uncle Fred started in business 1865, right after the close of the Civil War, that was 88 years ago. Now all of that long record has come to an end, sad in a way, but I feel relieved that it is all over.
